

GAIL project: GAIL on Tuesday started India's first hydrogen blending project in Indore where it would mix hydrogen with natural gas and then be supplied to a gas distribution company in Indore. This is in line with the government's National Hydrogen Mission to commercially promote hydrogen blending with natural gas. GAIL has started hydrogen blending as a pilot project to establish the techno-commercial feasibility of blending hydrogen in the city gas distribution (CGD) network. SNS